

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An anti-prying device for limiting thefts caused by prying a safe from its anchorings. The anti-prying device including a member which is extended between a safe protrusion and a floor. The anti-prying device limits access between 5 the floor and the safe protrusion to limit inserting a prying element therebetween.